4. GOVERNANCE & BOARD STRUCTURE

- The minimum required board positions per AFRWC were reviewed: President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer. All positions are now filled.
- Clear role definitions and access to relevant information for each board member were discussed as a priority.
- Regular board meetings with formal voting procedures are essential to proper governance.
- AFRWC, the Rural Utilities Act, and all other pertinent governance documents and guides have been acquired and are currently being reviewed by the board.
- A proper co-op manual is in progress, to be developed in alignment with AFRWC requirements and the Rural Utilities Act.

5. COMMUNICATIONS & WEBSITE

- A single, consistent communication channel has been identified to reduce confusion and limit mass emailing.

- The co-op website is now live and secured. The members-only area is fully functional — this action item is complete.
- Julio Gonzalez has been designated as Communications Officer, responsible for managing all outgoing communications and the website portal.
- The website includes a FAQ section, an online inquiry form, and a members-only section for sensitive information.

6. FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

- The co-op financial accounts and community committee accounts are currently combined. Separation of these accounts is in progress.
- Dave May is currently finalizing the financial books. Timely and accurate financial reporting was emphasized.
- Mandatory member fees and voluntary donations must be tracked and reported separately.
- Financial slides and spreadsheets are to be reviewed and confirmed for accuracy once separation is complete.

7. WATER & IRRIGATION SYSTEM

- The co-op is responsible for the drinking water supply. Irrigation water is managed separately by the United Irrigation District (UID).
- Members pay for irrigation services separately; non-payment results in water shutoff.
- Identification and ordering of appropriate water filters for the irrigation system is in progress.
- Clear communication to all members regarding water responsibilities and co-op versus UID jurisdiction was identified as important.
- Irrigation water has been turned on for the 2026 season. Members are reminded to conserve water and to use the irrigation tap only — not cistern water.

8. COMMUNITY INFRASTRUCTURE

- Discussion was held regarding the placement of a shed for tools and equipment within the common green space owned by the co-op.
- The Community Committee submitted a request for shed placement. The board accepted this request and the shed placement location is confirmed.
